

The collector was tested yesterday and it does the job perfectly. It will require lots of emptying when Jonny uses it for the first few years, however as the yellow rattle we have sown starts to reduce the grass levels, and the cutting regime itself does the same, there will be less and less to cut and his workload should decrease. Many people have found this can happen within the first two years.

I have videos and photos if you would like proof - happy to send them via WeTransfer. As the machine will only be needed in Spring and the end of Summer I suggest you offer it out to people with horse paddocks over the summer and winter, perhaps to rent it off you. It will save it sitting idle.

Follow the link to download. It was tested by Wildbanks Conservation

<https://we.tl/t-4UcCaY8VeQ>